Directory of courses and training programmes on drug misuse in Ireland 2016

Health Research Board
Introduction

This Directory contains information about courses and training programmes on drug misuse for individuals and agencies interested in developing their knowledge, skills and capacity in this field.

There is a wide variety of training available, ranging from single sessions to courses lasting up to three years. Although some courses do not refer directly to drugs or addiction, they may be of interest to those working in this area. Obviously, the depth of coverage of the issues varies considerably, according to the length of the course and the level at which it is aimed. There are also variations in the training methods and in the underlying principles and approaches to issues in drug misuse. A number of courses are offered by multiple providers, so information on a single course may be provided more than once. This enables local providers to give details which may be of interest to those in their area. Information in the Directory has been supplied by a range of sources and this is reflected in the different writing styles and content.

Courses are aimed at diverse target groups. Some courses are open to anyone in the community who is interested in the issue; others are aimed at those whose work brings them into contact with drug-related issues; and some are aimed at specific groups. The majority of courses listed here do not stipulate formal educational attainments as entry requirements, although a number of more advanced courses do require participants to have some previous knowledge and understanding of relevant issues.

The Directory does not assess or provide information about the quality or relevance of any of the courses listed. Neither the inclusion nor the omission of any course, or the details of any course, should be taken as indicative of any view or opinion of that course held by the staff of the HRB National Drugs Library, the Health Research Board or any other agency.

Information for this publication was taken from our online Directory, and therefore provides a ‘snap-shot’ of courses available at one particular time. Inevitably, some agencies providing courses and training in drug misuse were overlooked, and new courses are continually being developed. Please consult our website, www.drugsandalcohol.ie/courses, for the most up-to-date information.

Course co-ordinators who wish to provide updated information or new courses should contact Mary Dunne mdunne@hrb.ie

Short or basic level courses providing information and/or raising awareness of substance misuse among a general target audience, or developing skills of those working in this field.
Course aims and objectives

Strengthening Families Programme (SFP 12-16 yrs) is a 14 session family skills training programme for families. SFP has been proved to help build communication skills, family and behaviour management and have fun in the process! It is designed to give parents and their children the opportunity to learn new, healthy communication skills that create positive relationships within families. These new skills also assist and reduce the risk of young people getting involved in adverse behaviours.

SFP skills are not special skills for deficient families; SFP skills are for all families, but presented in a way to make them accessible to high stress families. All groups are run by facilitators who have trained in SFP and have experience of working with children and families in the community.

Course content

• The group meet for two and a half hours once a week
• On the evening, three classes are run: parent skills training, teen skills training and family life skills training.
• Families meet for the first half hour for a community dinner to meet with group leaders and other families in the group.
• After dinner, for the first hour families separate into two groups for parents/caregivers and for teens.
• In the second hour, families will join together to discuss and practice skills as a whole group.

In the parents group, parents will learn new skills to increase better behaviours in their teens through:

- Attention
- Rewards
- Clear communication
- Substance use education
- Problem solving
- Limit setting

In the teen group, skills are present on how to:

- Communicate positively
- Understand feelings
- Cope with criticism
- Manage stress
- Develop social skills
- Learn problem solving
- Deal with peer pressure
- Understand the consequences of substance abuse
- How short term consequences affect long term dreams and goals.

Benefits for families

• Increased family quality time
• Learn better communication skills
• Coping with anger and criticism
• Stress management
• Coping peer pressure
• Helps to prevent substance abuse, conduct disorders and depression in teens
• Improve parenting skills and family relationships
• Incentives for attendance, positive participation, homework completion and graduation.

Weekly family support

Through the running of the programme, families will link in on a weekly basis with their Link Person or Referral Agent in order to receive support and guidance around the content of the programme for that week.

A Link Person is a professional that will offer to say in contact with the referred family to cover any material with them, to check their understanding of the programme and try to address any difficulties that are arising within the programme. Referral Agents can and have in the past also acted in this capacity.

Target group
The Strengthening Families Programme is a 14 week family skills programme for the entire family.

Entry requirement
Families. There is childcare available for children aged 4-11 years, and transport can be provided to families who may find it difficult to travel to the programme. There is a meal provided every night for all the family to enjoy before the session starts.

Selection procedure
Families may be referred by a ‘referral agent’ e.g. a probation officer.

For more information about the programme, for both families and referrers visit www.lecheile.ie/category/what-we-do/strengthening-families-programme/

The Safety, Health and Welfare at Work Act 2005 took effect on 1st September 2005. Section 13(1)b of the Act contains a provision on drugs and alcohol and states that an employee shall while at work:-

Ensure that he or she is not under the influence of an intoxicant (defined as including drugs and alcohol and any combination of drugs or of drugs and alcohol) to the extent that he or she is in such a state as to endanger his or her own safety, health or welfare at work or that of any other person.

Section 13(1) b of the Act applies to legal drugs including alcohol, prescribed medication and over the counter drugs which could cause drowsiness and pose a risk to employees working in safety critical industries such as transportation, air-sea-rail, construction, manufacturing and health-care.

Book online before Saturday 31 December 2016
€295.00 After that date €350.00.
Course aims and objectives
The objective of the training programme is to develop the following:
• Policies and Procedures for responding to workplace intoxicants (defined as drugs and alcohol).
• Conducting intoxicant risk assessment and control measures.
• Managing reasonable suspicion for managers and supervisors (when an employee reports for or is on duty under the influence of an intoxicant).
• Health surveillance for intoxicants, employee information, employee support services and employee assistance programmes.
• Procedures for intoxicant testing.

Course content
Over the past number of years the EAP Institute has developed a prominent position in the provision of consulting and training for companies who wish to comply with Section 13(1) b of the Safety, Health and Welfare at Work Act 2005. This section of the Act requires that, where a manager or supervisor has reasonable suspicion that an employee reports for or is on duty under the influence of an intoxicant (defined as drugs and alcohol or any combination of drugs or alcohol) they may be removed from their place of work.

Employers are required to provide reasonable accommodation when employees are removed from their place of work. This requires an objective assessment, to determine if the employee is suffering from a disability and afforded, when appropriate, the opportunity for treatment and rehabilitation.

Course aims and objectives
This eight-week certified and IASW accredited training course is based on a holistic and harm-reduction approach to self-injury and is the first of its kind to be run in Ireland.

The course provides an in-depth programme and draws on the latest research and developments in the field. It takes a broad, holistic and critical view, enabling participants to understand and apply best-practice responses suited to their particular setting and to work intensively on knowledge, skills, practice and policy development for their field. The course is based on a group learning and participant-centred approach and participants leave the course highly resourced in terms of their own practice and also as leaders and developers of innovative responses in their field.

Course content
The course includes modules on:
• Self-injury: definitions, problems, positions
• Embodiment, well-being and the functions of self-injury
• An in-depth, life-course approach to self-injury
• Active listening and facilitating recovery
• Critical mental health
• Harm-reduction
• Creative interventions
• Policy development

Target group
Those with an interest in this area.

Entry requirement

Course aims and objectives
The course is designed for those who would like to increase their knowledge and train as parents / carers to be a barrier between children (aged 7-13) and the influence of today’s so-called “toxic culture”.

Course content
The training delivers 16 hours of video-based workshops, generally over four weeks.
1: “Toxic culture” explores the culture that young people are exposed to and “Put yourself in the way”, how to get involved in your young person’s life.
2: “Awareness is your best friend” concentrates on listening to your intuition as a parent and “Remember the difference” adolescence is a middle ground between childhood and adulthood.
3: “Expect and inspect” and “Never cry alone”. focus on sharing the bad times as well as the good times with your teenager and this aims to help them deal with feelings rather than masking them through the use of alcohol and drugs.
4: “Traps to avoid” explores seven traps for parents that they should avoid: wealth without work, love without limits, adulthood without childhood, education without character, entertainment without conscience, freedom without vision. The session also looks at “Building a family vision”: working with your children to help them reach their goals and dreams.

Target group
Parents or carers living in Cork city community.

Entry requirement
Applicants must be over 18 and parents / carers.

Selection procedure

Course aims and objectives
Southside Community Training Network (SCTN) focuses on building community capacity through the provision of quality, affordable training courses to individuals and groups working within Dún Laoghaire-Rathdown.

Course content
The SCTN have organised the following training courses in the past:

Alcohol and its effects on our community
Designed to entertain, provoke and educate this workshop will invite those attending to explore the world of a 12 year old girl to cope with the worries and fears of living in a world where alcohol abuse is the norm. The workshop will start off with a short 30 minute play.

Community addiction studies course (a one module course at FETAC level 5)
The purpose of this course is to enable participants to learn about drugs and their effects, develop an understanding of addiction, examine their own attitudes, become more effective in their personal responses and develop the skills and knowledge to become more effective in responding to drug misuse in their own communities.

Drug awareness training course
This course is suitable for those 18 years and over who are interested in learning about drugs and their effects, both on the individuals who use them and the wider community. The course runs for six consecutive weeks and a Certificate of Attendance will be given to participants on completion.

Motivational Interviewing (Introduction course)
Participants will acquire a solid base of MI theory, explore MI spirit, investigate opening strategies, intervention traps, explore resistance, develop and integrate skills and techniques to progress competency. This workshop will benefit any professionals working with people where behaviour change would be favourable.

Managing organisations in the community sector
National College of Ireland and Citywide Drugs Crisis Campaign, have offered this part-time work-based course. It has been developed for front line managers of community based drug projects who wish to develop their knowledge to successfully manage and lead in this complex and challenging environment.

Parachute programme
A one-day training event for the delivery of Drug Misuse Prevention through play for 5-12 year olds. The programme is divided into three age appropriate modules which are based on the use of play to explore the ideas of: self esteem, staying safe, being healthy, being aware of drugs.

Two day training in drug prevention & education.
- Quality standards in substance use education
The Manual was developed by the Drug Education Workers Forum as a way of standardising substance use education within the community, voluntary and statutory sector. Standards within substance use education may include educational programmes, policies and guidelines.
  - Putting the pieces together: a drug & alcohol resource for trainers
The aim of the Manual is to provide a practical approach to working with young people (in an out of school setting), parents and communities. affected by drug use. The objectives are to increase knowledge and understanding, challenge attitudes, develop skills in delivering substance use education, and give an introduction into the use of brief interventions.

Target group

SCTN courses are open to all those living or working within Dún Laoghaire-Rathdown. Priority will be given to those who work within areas and communities of disadvantage.

We organise training based on the needs of the organisations with which we work. Since we work with a diversity of organisations, our calendar is diverse. Courses are often on issues related to childcare, accounting, grant-writing, web work and health and safety, as well as around topics, like substance abuse or domestic violence.

Many of our courses are FETAC (or otherwise) accredited. Our trainers are experts in their fields. SCTN pays full price for the training and charges the learner a greatly reduced, subsidised price.

Course start date

Contact SCTN or see website for details.

Course aims and objectives
The aims of the 2 day drink driver education course are:
• to enable participants to gain an understanding of the issues of drinking alcohol and driving. This information will assist the learners in making informed, positive future choices.
• to explain the impact of new legislation
• to outline the process involved in being arrested with a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol, and the possible consequences of this happening.
• to understand the effect alcohol has on the body and brain. This information includes up to date knowledge based on scientific evidence which will again assist the learners in making informed, positive future choices.
• to demonstrate to attendees the effect drink driving can have on the families of victims
• to give attendees details on how to apply for their license back and how to appeal for a reduction in sentence

Target group
Although the course is aimed at convicted drink drivers who have been requested by a Judge to attend a drink driver education course it is open for participation by anyone who is interested in attending.

Entry requirement
See above.

Selection procedure

Course background
In September 2010 Judges in Irish District Courts were given a new sentencing option where convicted drink drivers could be required to attend a Drink Driving Education Course as part of their sentence. This course is aimed specifically at convicted drink drivers and it will help drivers to separate alcohol use from driving. The course is not meant to help attendees to give up alcohol and it is not a counselling service.

The Learning Curve Institute offers a thorough 2 day drink driving education course for convicted drink drivers and research in the area has shown that education and awareness courses of this nature reduce repeat offending and therefore lead to a safer environment on our roads and less road deaths as a result of drink driving.

Course aims and objectives
The core content of the programme is an introduction to counselling skills and is specifically designed to assist participants in identifying their own level of counselling skills and to build on these.

The programme is highly interactive with a mix of role-plays, group discussion and smaller group exercises. The aim of the programme is to assist those working in the area of addiction to underpin existing skills and build on and expand these skills throughout the course.

Course content
Learning outcomes
1. To equip students with the tools to enable them to develop their own counselling skills.
2. To build on and expand existing knowledge within the group.
3. To enhance confidence in participants use of basic counselling skills.
4. To provide space and time for participants to use the following key counselling skills:
   - Listening
   - Looking (non verbal communication)
   - Analysing (why is this person looking for help and what do they see as the problem)
   - Use of open-ended questions
   - Reflective listening
   - Summarising
   - Empathy

Course background
Solution-Focused Brief Therapy (SFBT) is a short-term goal-focused therapeutic approach which helps clients change by constructing solutions rather than dwelling on problems. Elements of the desired solution often are already present in the client’s life, and become the basis for ongoing change. The therapist intervenes only to the extent necessary, with treatment usually lasting for less than six sessions. SFBT was developed by Steve de Shazer, Insoo Kim Berg, and the team at the Brief Family Therapy Center of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, in the mid-1980's. The SFBT workshop is designed and delivered by Sean Foy, Head of Addiction and Counselling at The Learning Curve Institute. An intermediate course www.thelearningcurve.ie/intermediate-level-solution-focused-brief-therapy and advanced course are also offered www.thelearningcurve.ie/advanced-level-solution-focused-brief-therapy

Course background
background Developed by Miller and Rollnick. Motivational Interviewing is a client-centered approach that elicits behavioral changes by assisting individuals to explore and resolve ambivalence. This approach is especially helpful with individuals who are less motivated. Research has shown Motivational Interviewing to be helpful with a wide range of client groups and issues. This two day course will equip the attendees with a sound understanding of Motivational Interviewing theory and skills.

Course aims and objectives
The aim of this two day workshop is to provide an overview of CBT and the space to practice the skills associated with this approach.

There will be “real” scenarios taken from the group and then worked on using the skills and principles of CBT, this is done to enhance the learning experience and to make the connection between the theory and practice of CBT.

Course content
Methods used will be:
• Participative: Participants will be asked to contribute to the training in large and small groups. There will be exercises throughout the training designed for the group to be split up into smaller groups.
• Experiential: Training allows participants to contribute by using examples of anonymous clients that they have worked with.
• Theory into practice: Training will allow some role plays that will encourage participants to put the theory into practice.
• Information giving: There will be handouts and information on relevant reading that will be distributed at each days training.
• Worker led: Training will be flexible to the needs of the group.

Course background
Cognitive-behavioural therapy is a therapeutic therapy which can influence problematic and dysfunctional cognitions, behaviour and emotions by using a goal-oriented, systematic procedure conducted through individual weekly sessions.

It is based on the idea that our thoughts cause our feelings and behaviors, not external things, like people, situations, and events. We can change the way we think to feel / act better even if the situation does not change.

Course background
This course is a 2 day training workshop delivered from 9:30 to 4:30 on a Thursday and Friday. This programme is designed to provide an overview of key working, care planning and case management. Key working is the simple process of working with clients to achieve their goals and part of this process is effective case management, in essence the two go hand in hand.

There will be examples of best practice in relation to key working and case management and practical examples given to develop theory into practice. Above all this programme is a practical application of relevant theory in relation to key working and case management.

The Learning Curve Institute was contracted by The HSE to deliver training on these topics as part of The National Addiction Training Programme in 2011/2012 and therefore possesses in depth knowledge of both the content and the training delivery. The last course in Dublin in December sold out very quickly so early booking is advisable.

Courses are also run as requested in house to groups where these two subjects can also be split into separate 2 day modules on each subject should this be required. In order to maximise learning groups will be limited to a maximum of 16 students per course.

Course start date
06 Oct - 07 Oct 2016, 9.30am - 4.30pm

Course location
All Hallows College, Dublin 9. This course is also offered in house to groups when requested. Please contact the Learning Curve Institute for more details.

Course aims and objectives
The aim of this 1 or 2 day workshop is to enable participants to identify and use specific interventions such as; identification of high-risk situations for each client, enhancing the client’s coping skills for these situations, increasing the client’s self-efficacy, eliminating myths regarding alcohol’s effects, managing lapses, and restructuring the client’s perceptions of the relapse process.
Global strategies comprise balancing the client’s lifestyle and helping him or her develop positive addictions, employing stimulus control techniques and urge-management techniques, and developing relapse road maps.

Course content
Students will receive handouts and relevant literature to enable them to develop their understanding of Relapse Prevention appropriate to this level. In each session students will have the opportunity to observe and practice Relapse Prevention techniques through role-plays and scenarios provided by the lecturer.

Target group
Those who wish to know more about relapse prevention

Course background
Good relapse prevention work is key amongst addiction professionals. This programme is designed to meet the needs of those working within the addiction field in relation to this area by following the specific model of relapse prevention of Marlatt and Gordon and covering some practical applications of this model.

This model proposed suggests that two issues come into play when looking at Relapse Prevention, namely immediate determinants (e.g., high-risk situations, coping skills, outcome expectancies, and the abstinence violation effect) and covert antecedents (e.g., lifestyle factors and urges and cravings) can all contribute to relapse.

Course aims and objectives
This programme is designed to provide an overview of alcohol use/abuse both in Ireland and internationally. There will be examples of best practice in relation to alcohol from both an abstinence viewpoint and a harm reduction viewpoint. Practical examples will be given to develop theory into practice. Above all this programme is a practical application of relevant theory and evidence based practice in relation to alcohol use/abuse.

The aim of this 1-2 day workshop is to enable participants to:
1. Become aware of the effects of alcohol, both short term and long term.
2. Formulate a care plan/action plan with clients who are alcohol dependent.
3. Formulate a care plan/action plan with clients who are abstinent.
4. Become aware of the process of withdrawal and possible consequences.
5. Become aware of international best practice in the area of alcohol.

Course aims and objectives
This programme is designed to assist organizations in the development of their drug and/or alcohol policy.

The aim of this 1-2 day workshop is to enable participants to become aware of some of the issues present in policy development relating to drugs and alcohol. It is designed to have an end product, a “mock” policy, developed by the group. In reality this will be group led with approximately 4-5 people in each group producing a relevant policy. The overall aim of the programme is to allow space and time regarding the development of an alcohol/drug policy.

Course content
Learning outcomes:
To build on and expand existing knowledge in relation to Policy Development within the group.
To enhance confidence in participants in relation to their understanding of formulating a policy and its impact on their organisation. To enhance participants awareness of the process of policy development in the area of substance misuse. To allow space and time for participants to look at their own policies in relation to alcohol/drug use/abuse and to develop best practice.

Course aims and objectives
The aim of this 1-2 day workshop is to enable participants to:
1. Define harm reduction as an approach.
2. Understand the approach from an Irish perspective and also on a broader global level.
3. Understand the historical and social contexts out of which harm reduction emerged and how harm reduction fits into an international human rights agenda.
4. Identify and adopt the general principles of harm reduction.
5. Understand harm reduction models of intervention and their applications.
6. Describe the different drugs of abuse, their various routes of administration, their effects, and potential harms.

Course content
The main characteristics of Harm Reduction are Pragmatism, Humanistic Values, Focus on Harms, Balancing Costs and benefits and Hierarchy of goals. Throughout this programme there will be an emphasis on practical approaches to harm reduction and the historical context within which it sits. Some local, national and international examples will be given and there will be structured discourse on the pros and cons of harm reduction.

Learning outcomes: To build on and expand existing knowledge in relation to Harm Reduction within the group. To enhance confidence in participants use of Harm reduction strategies. To allow space and time for participants to look at their own practice in relation to Harm Reduction and discuss clients that they have had or are currently working with (suitably anonymous) in relation to a Harm Reduction approach.

Course aims and objectives
The aim of this workshop is to raise awareness among participants of the various drugs, both legal and illegal, that are available at the present time in their area. Participants will be presented with a wide range of information on various drugs, including alcohol, and the categories into which they fall. This is to inform participants of the effects of drugs and signs and symptoms of a person who may be using various types of drugs.

The workshop will enable participants to:
1. Become aware of the effects of alcohol and drugs, both short term and long term.
2. Formulate a care plan/action plan with clients who are alcohol or drug dependent
3. Formulate a care plan/action plan with clients who are abstinent
4. Become aware of the process of withdrawal and possible consequences
5. Become aware of international best practice in the area of alcohol and drugs.

Course content
The methodology used in this training will be a combination of the following:

Participative: The participants will be asked to contribute to the training both in the large group and also in smaller ones. There will be a number of exercises throughout the training that are designed for the group to be split up into smaller groups.

Experiential: The training will allow participants to contribute by using examples of anonymous clients that they have worked with or are currently working with.

Theory into practice: The training will allow some role plays that will encourage participants to put the theory into practice.

Information giving: There will be handouts and information on relevant reading that will be distributed at each days training.

Worker led: The training will be flexible to the needs of the group.

Target group
The programme is highly interactive with some group exercises and scenarios and is aimed at participants who wish to expand their knowledge of alcohol and drugs and their use/misuse. Practical examples will be given to develop theory into practice. Course aims and objectives

A brief intervention for alcohol use is a short, helpful conversation that focuses on assessing, and if necessary, assists a person to consider and alter their alcohol consumption. Brief interventions have shown to be effective in initiating change in alcohol consumption for people with mild to moderate alcohol-related problems and in helping people with more significant difficulties to access specialised alcohol treatment services. The SAOR Model has been adopted by the HSE as the model-of-choice for delivering brief interventions for alcohol use.

On completion of this course, participants should be able to:

- Critically discuss problem alcohol and drug use as it impacts their current work or area of practice
- Demonstrate an enhanced knowledge and awareness of contemporary models of screening and brief intervention for problem alcohol and drug use
- Identify problem alcohol and drug users who present to health and social care settings
- Utilise the SAOR model of Screening & Brief Intervention (SBI) in practice based scenarios
- Discuss the application of the SAOR model of screening and brief intervention for problem alcohol and drug use into their practice

Target group

Staff who have occasion to ask people about their alcohol use. This could include workers from social care, family support, employment support, vocational training, criminal justice, probation, education, housing support and general health care services.

Entry requirement

This training is for those living in the West of Ireland, though we will accept trainees from outside the west who are willing to travel to training.

This course is no longer active, but might be in the future contact the Course Administrator for more information.

Course aims and objectives
The aim of the training is to enable workers to diagnose and treat suspected opioid overdose and to supply and administer Naloxone in emergency situations competently and safely. It is advised that only those workers who have successfully completed the training on CPR may undertake the Diagnosis and Treatment of Suspected Narcotic (i.e. Opioid) Overdose and the Supply and Administration of Naloxone Programme.

For the purposes of delivering the service in 2015/16 the naloxone preparation Prenoxad® will be utilised and therefore administration will need to comply with the Summary of Product Characteristics (SmPC) for this product. This means that Prenoxad® will be given by intramuscular injection in accordance with the SmPC. In the future other products may be considered.

Course content
- Principles of harm reduction, narcotic opioid overdose and safe administration of injections
- Preparation for delivering a naloxone service
- Supply and administration of naloxone in an emergency situation
- It is recommended that the learning outcomes be achieved through a blended learning format including an online component (www.drugs.ie/naloxone) and face-to-face session(s)

Learning outcomes:
This workshop is designed to provide you with the following:

- Recognise the signs of overdose
- Steps in dealing with someone in an overdose
- The administration of Naloxone injection

Target group
This training is targeted specifically at those who work with opioid drugs users including those in frontline health services, homeless services and family members.

Longer courses providing information, raising awareness and developing skills among those whose work brings them into contact with substance misuse. Around NFQ (National framework of qualifications) level 5.
This course is designed to promote good practice among those who work (paid / voluntary) with young people and communities. It provides a critical perspective on some of the issues including community development and drug / alcohol issues which can affect young people and communities and encourages the development of coherent responses at individual and organisational level. The two components should promote the ability of learners to work safely and effectively in youth and / or community work settings. The programme also aims to provide the participants with the necessary knowledge and skills in sourcing and / or resourcing applicable supports systems, both within and outside their communities.

Course content

1. Understanding Community Development
   - The purpose of this component is to equip the learner with the knowledge, skill and ability to engage with the key ideas which underpin community development in Ireland. It will also outline the potential of community development to contribute to social change in relation to a range of issues e.g. poverty, equality, attitudes to substance misuse, immigration etc. This component will also look at some current challenges to community development's role as a process of social change in favour of the most marginalised.

Course aims and objectives
Mindfulness is increasingly recognised as a valuable intervention in counselling internationally. In the field of medicine, more Irish doctors now recommend mindfulness to patients. Millions of people around the world practice mindfulness to enhance their experience of living. Put simply, mindfulness involves continually returning your awareness to your present-moment stream of experience in a non-judgmental way. This very simple approach, though at odds with our normal way of thinking, can be very helpful to people suffering loss, anxiety, stress, depression and other aspects of the human condition.

Course content

• Definitions and purpose of mindfulness.
• Exploration of the use of mindfulness with clients.
• Exploration of the use of mindfulness in your own life.
• Consideration of the scope and limitations of mindfulness as a therapeutic tool.
• Opportunities to role-play in triads as therapist, client and observer using participants’ own case work.
• Opportunities to practice mindfulness during the course days and guidelines for practice at other times.
• An introduction to the basics of Buddhist psychology from which mindfulness emerged.
• Understanding how Buddhist psychology ‘fits’ with Cognitive Behavioural Therapy and other Western approaches.

Target group
This course is intended for therapists, mental health practitioners and for those professionals who would like to add mindfulness to the range of clinical interventions available to them. Additionally, it is ideal for those who would like to use mindfulness in their own lives. Participants will gain a rewarding life skill and a valuable tool for intervention.

Course aims and objectives
The aim of the course is to equip participants with the necessary theoretical and clinical understanding of the CBT approach to counselling. The course content can be broken into four broad areas.
- Theory
- Assessment of presenting problems
- Disputation of irrational beliefs
- Homework

Course content
Section one:
Participants will learn the history of CBT with emphasis on Beck's Cognitive Therapy and Ellis' Rational Emotive Behavioural Therapy. Participants will gain an understanding of the psychology behind the CBT model and its clinical application in today's climate. Difference in counsellor style will form an integral part of this phase of training. The importance of the counsellor as educator will be discussed. Ellis' ABC Model will be explored in detail and participants will learn how to explain the model to clients in a variety of ways.

Section two:
Assessment of a problem will be explored in the second phase of training. The different classifications of irrational beliefs will be explained and discussed. (inferences, evaluations etc). Trainees will learn how to identify rational and irrational beliefs and will clearly understand the difference between healthy and unhealthy emotions. The impact of thinking on emotional disturbance will be further discussed and explored. At this stage of training, Participants will begin to apply the ABC model to some of the presenting problems they identify.

Section three:
At this stage of training, Participants will be taught the different types of disputation in CBT. They will learn how to dispute irrational beliefs at a logical, empirical and pragmatic level. They will be taught how to assist their client's in disputing their irrational thoughts and beliefs. The integration of Alternative Rational Beliefs will be introduced to students and they will be given opportunity to practice these skills in class through triad work and round robins.

Section four:
The role of homework will be explored in detail in this section. Having identified the need to develop and strengthen rational beliefs, trainees will be given the skills required to help their clients achieve same. Students will learn how to develop both written and behavioural assignments to address the identified issues. These homework assignments will focus on both disputing the irrational beliefs and consolidating the rational beliefs. Effective planning strategies will also be explored.

Target group
Professional or personal interest in the area of Cognitive Behavioural Therapy.

Course aims and objectives

This is an introductory course for those who are seeking to develop their awareness and understanding in the field of counselling and psychotherapy. This course also serves as a foundation course for those seeking entry onto a diploma course in counselling and psychotherapy.

Programme aims:
- To introduce learners to a practical cutting-edge approach to mental health care and counselling;
- To encourage psychological wellbeing within the programme and empower and encourage support networks;
- To provide a warm and challenging environment where students can learn and grow;
- To enable learners to begin to develop a clear and transparent understanding of counselling and psychotherapy that is congruent with the principles associated with bone fide helping professionals; and
- Encourage learners to view this course in the context of lifelong learning and personal as well as professional development.

Course content

The programme is highly interactive and taught through role-play, lectures, group work and audio/video presentations. Participants will have the opportunity to produce and participate in individual written assignments, group projects and group work.

Module:
1. Introduction to counselling and psychotherapy: This module aims to give the learner a broad introduction to the field of counselling and psychotherapy and the main approaches therein. Learners will have the opportunity to explore various definitions in counselling and psychotherapy, understand the historical developments, appreciate how the need for therapy has evolved at a societal level and understand how theories aid a therapist in understanding human behaviour, emotions, unconscious factors, motivation and making sense and meaning of life experiences. Learners will also be given an overview of the models of Choice Theory and Reality Therapy, Person Centred Counselling and Multicultural approaches.

2. Introduction to counselling skills: This module aims to introduce the learner to the basic and intermediate skills of counselling. Learners will be coached in a range of key skills that will facilitate effective listening within the helping relationship. Learners will explore the characteristics of an effective listener, understand the core conditions of empathy, congruence and unconditional positive regard within the helping relationship and become increasingly aware of listening blocks. Learners will have the opportunity to practice listening skills with peer learners throughout this module.

3. Introduction to personal development: This module aims to enable learners to increase their levels of self awareness of their own personal development within the context of becoming a helper. Learners will explore their levels of self-awareness and how this relates to becoming an effective helper in the caring profession. Accurate and sensitive self-awareness underpins any type of helping relationship, as the main instrument for becoming a helper/therapist is the person themselves.
Target group
This programme is suitable for those seeking to pursue their awareness and development in the field of counselling and/or who work in the helping/caring professions.

Entry requirement
• Applicants should be able to articulate their interest in the therapeutic field and their reasons for pursuing this course of study; and
• Produce evidence of prior educational attainment (see application form for further details)

Entry onto the certificate programme is through application and interview. Selection procedures will apply.

Selection procedure

Course aims and objectives
The training is based on the resource MindOut which has been developed by Health Promotion HSE West and NUI Galway. MindOut is a twelve-session mental health programme which takes a positive approach to the promotion of emotional and mental health among young people. The emphasis is on giving time to young people to explore what challenges their mental health and looking at the ways they cope ranging from personal coping skills to informal networks of support to professional or voluntary support services. All participants will receive a copy of the MindOut resource pack and Good Habits of Mind support pack.

Course content
Training for the resource is carried out over three days. Following training day one and two participants begin to implement the programme. Participants then return 6 weeks later for day three which includes a review, self-care for the tutors and organisational issues.

Learning content:
• Expressing feelings
• Gender differences in coping behaviour
• Dealing with rejection and depression
• Seeking help
• Coping strategies and resilience
• The importance of social support
• Positive self-talk

Course aims and objectives
This course is an innovative initiative to provide the educational support to recovered (former) users of drugs and alcohol to work with people, currently struggling with addiction, in a recovery coaching relationship.

The role of ‘recovery champions’ i.e. visible community based examples of success, is increasingly gaining significance. This course provides the necessary theory and practice skills development to become effective recovery coaches in the community.

Course content
On completion of this module and following a period of personal study the student will be able to:
• Understand the concept of recovery and the processes of change in relation to addiction including relapse and relapse prevention
• Utilise a range of communication and behavioural strategies in the effective coaching of recovering drug users
• Understand the key ethical issues associated with recovery coaching
• Evaluate the outcomes of recovery coaching

In addition to the delivery of theory and skills development in class, a minimum of 20 hours coaching practice is a formal mandatory component of the programme. Candidates of the programme will be required to identify a site or organisation who will facilitate coaching placement and who are willing to undertake assessor/supervisor preparation. All components of the programme, theoretical and practical will be fully supported by the programme team in the form of individual and group tutorials and site visits.
inclusion. These values are key elements underpinning the Recovery Coach Programme (RCP). The recovery coach initiative overall is consistent with DCU's and FAST's strategic objectives of community engagement.

Course aims and objectives
You will gain a thorough understanding of drug misuse and its effects on Irish society. You will acquire critical awareness of the causes of addiction; models of treatment of addiction; and learn to identify patterns of drug abuse by examining historical trends in Irish society.

This course helps to identify strategies appropriate to the various stages of the addiction process. Analysis of community and local level responses, and of media representation of addiction and how it affects attitudes in society will help you develop a broader view of this complex area.

Course content
1. Drugs and their effects
2. The impact of addiction on the family and the community.
3. The services available in response to addiction
4. Community responses
5. The nature and practice of intervention
6. The media presentation of addiction
7. Application of psychological theory & behavioural interventions
8. The participant's own personal learning

Target group
This course is relevant to anyone interested in working with persons with different types of addiction. Ideally suited for care workers, community workers, social workers, charity volunteers, agency workers, or indeed anyone, who wishes to work in this challenging area.

Not Active
This course is no longer active, but might be in the future contact the Course Administrator for more information.

Course aims and objectives
This course is designed to facilitate the development of a competence within this specialist modality of practice for those who have completed a level 8 programme in the fields of counselling, psychology, psychotherapy, health and social care or who have relevant professional practice.

Cognitive Behavioural Therapy (CBT) is an evidence based intervention that is recognised across the broad area of health and social care as an approach that can deal effectively with issues within psychotherapeutic practice either on its own or in combination with pharmacological or other interventions.

This masters degree will support the learner to develop the skills, knowledge, attitude and approach to be able to work in this area. On completion of the programme, graduates should be able to demonstrate the capacity to utilise CBT approaches appropriately and autonomously. They should also be capable of demonstrating reflective skills at a higher order level and be capable of leading others as role models of best practice in the field of CBT.

Course content
There are 5 taught modules in addition to a practicum and dissertation module. Taught modules are delivered over 3 evenings and 3 Saturday classes per module. Applicants completing this masters degree over 1 year must complete all modules. Applicants completing the degree over 2 years will complete their taught modules in first year and complete their dissertation and practicum in second year.

Dissertation topic is subject to approval by the ICHAS Ethics Committee. Practicum module requires clinical supervision, the cost of which must be negotiated between the learner and their supervisor.

Target group
The course is suitable for those who have completed a level 8 programme in the fields of counselling, psychology, psychotherapy, health and social care or who have relevant professional practice.

Entry requirement
A minimum of a 2.2 level 8 degree (or its equivalent) in a related discipline. Applicants with relevant experience will also be considered through APL/RPL. Applicants are also required to complete a short interview.

Selection procedure
For more information about the course, please visit the course website at http://ichas.ie/courses/m-cognitive-behavioural-therapy/

Qualification
Masters Degree in Cognitive Behavioural Therapy

Assessment
The assessment strategy accommodates different learning styles and therefore the programme requires learners to undertake a range of practical assignments, essays, learning journals, examinations, reflective exercises, and projects.
Accreditation
NFQ Level: 9

Course background
CBT is now recognised as an appropriate intervention for a range of complex problems. Graduates of this masters will find opportunities for employment in areas such as private practice, the community and voluntary sector, addiction centres, rehabilitation centres, the prison service, etc. There is also demand from industry based organisations for professional practitioners with a CBT focus in the area of employee assistance and similar programmes.

Course aims and objectives
This Higher Diploma is a transition course providing a foundation in social policy for graduates of other disciplines. The course is designed to enable people to have the opportunity to pursue further training and careers in social work or social policy. Successful completion of the programme to good honours standard confers eligibility to apply for programmes such as the MSocSc (Social Work) and the research degree in social policy. There may, in addition, be non-academic entry requirements for these programmes which must also be met. Please consult the school website for more detailed information on entry requirements for particular programmes. The Higher Diploma in Social Policy is not of itself a professional qualification.

Course content
This Higher Diploma provides a selection of modules from the BSocSc undergraduate Social Policy programme which students cover in a single year. Students attend classes with Level 1, 2 and 3 undergraduates.

There are a number of core modules which all Higher Diploma students must take, in addition to the optional modules which they choose. Students who wish to apply for the Master of Social Science (Social Work) programme are strongly advised to take optional modules in ‘Introduction to social work’ and ‘Social work in practice’.

Core modules for previous years include the following:
* Comparative social policy
* Gender and social policy analysis

Optional modules for previous years included the following:
* Family, demography and social policy
* Theories and concepts
* Contemporary Irish social policy
* Exploring contemporary social policy

Students will be given full details of the current core modules and optional modules at the beginning of the academic year. Detailed module outlines and booklists for individual modules will be made available by individual lecturers.

Target group
Graduates wishing to pursue further training and careers in social work and social policy.

Entry requirement
Applicants to the HDip programme who intend to apply for the MSocSc(Social Work) should note that they will be expected to have a minimum of 420 hours relevant paid or voluntary work experience by the closing date for applications to the Masters programme, in addition to the academic requirements. (Placements do not count towards these but may be drawn upon at interview should you be shortlisted). Applicants with fewer hours may still be considered at the discretion of the school.

Selection procedure
The minimum standard for entry is a NFQ level 8 degree in any subject. However, students are normally expected to have achieved a minimum grade of 2.2 (second class honours, grade 2). If the degree grade is given as a GPA, the standard for entry is the GPA equivalent of a second class honours, grade 2 in the institution which awarded the degree. This may vary between institutions. For degrees awarded by UCD it is a GPA of 2.48. Applicants whose degree was awarded outside Ireland should contact the school office to check the equivalency of their qualifications.

Course background
n.a.

Course start date
September each year. A full-time course lasting one academic year.

Course location
UCD Dublin

Application
The course will be held only if a sufficient number of suitably qualified candidates apply. Once the course has filled, applicants may be placed on a waiting list or advised to re-apply the following year.

Cost
EU fee per year - €5,950; non-EU fee per year - €11,900. Successful applicants will be required to pay a non-refundable deposit of €500 upon acceptance of a place.
Course aims and objectives
The Master of Public Policy is a 90-credit programme. When starting the course, students will choose one of eight streams. Students must take four core modules (10 credits each), one dissertation design module (5 credits/half term), and 2-4 option modules (20 credits in total). Students also submit a thesis worth 25 credits that will be written during the summer term.

Optional specialist streams which enable you to examine the policy fields which interest you in-depth include the Community Drugs and Health Policy Stream.

Course content
You will develop an understanding of the political, ethical, social and economic factors which influence policy-making along with the challenges associated with effective policy implementation and regulation. You will also learn to systematically analyse public policies, and acquire skills in policy research and evaluation. In addition, you will have the opportunity to examine a number of policy fields in depth.

Target group
This programme is suitable for graduates who plan to pursue a career in the public or non-profit sectors, policy analysis or consulting and for those already working in these sectors, who want to develop their policy analysis, research and evaluation skills.

Entry requirement
Each application is considered on its individual merits. The applicants should have earned an undergraduate degree in a relevant subject such as political science, international relations, social science, sociology, geography, economics, global studies, public policy, EU studies, law/international law etc. with at least Upper Second Class Honours, or its equivalent (an overall GPA of 3.0 (B) or higher in the American system). Relevant professional experience will also be taken into account.

Note that meet the requirements do not guarantee admission. Applicants in their final year of undergraduate study may be admitted conditional on satisfactory completion of their undergraduate degree.

Course aims and objectives
To provide a broad-based holistic approach to the issue of drug use and to offer students a comprehensive overview of the therapeutic, clinical and social implications associated with drug use and dependency. To empower participants to respond more effectively through development of their knowledge and skills base. The diploma is at HETAC level 7.

Course objectives include:
- To provide students with a range of skills and interventions to engage effectively with clients presenting with addiction issues.
- To develop students’ individual counselling intervention skills in beginning, sustaining, and maintaining a helping relationship.
- To give students a group work perspective in working with addiction/dependency from both a theoretical and experiential framework.
- To examine the areas of social and drug policy with a view to teasing out the wider macro issues in relation to problem drug and alcohol use.
- To offer students a one month placement in a drug/alcohol agency in order to observe and engage in supervised work and to provide students with an opportunity to link theory to practice.
- To examine the interface between problem drug use and mental health and to explore the role of dual diagnosis in addiction/dependency.

Course content
This professional training course offered by Merchants Quay Ireland in conjunction with UCD is an opportunity for individuals working with drug users to gain intensive training in this interesting and complex field. The course runs over two academic years and includes classroom teaching and placements in specialist drugs services.

Course aims and objectives

Year 1 of Diploma (Certificate In Drugs Counselling Theory & Intervention Skills, NFQ Level 7). This course delivers a broad introduction to the issue of drug use and addiction and seeks to empower participants to respond more effectively in their client work through the development of their knowledge and skills base.

Course objectives include:
- To gain an understanding of the psychoactive nature of particular drugs and implications for use, misuse, and abuse.
- To understand and critique treatment models and their efficacy in service provision/delivery
- To learn and critically evaluate primary health care and harm minimization approaches to legal and non-legal substances
- To learn key counselling skills and strategies in order to enable students to intervene effectively in terms of assessments, referrals, one-to-one work and holistics
- To give students opportunities to experience a drug service and to provide opportunities to link theory to practice.
- To introduce students to some of the macro issues around problem drug use particularly in relation to community development and social policy.

Course content

Merchants Quay Ireland in conjunction with University College Dublin offers this unique and innovative course which empowers participants to respond more effectively to the issues of drug use and addiction. All students who undertake this course will be automatically registered for the Diploma in Drugs Counselling Theory & Intervention Skills in Dublin. Course aims and objectives
The goal of our course is to impart our information to individuals who will in turn present drug and alcohol awareness to others. We would like to make a difference to communities in this way, as education is an effective tool in substance abuse prevention.

At the end of the course you will have all the tools to put run a drug/alcohol education training day or full length course yourself.

Course content
Drug and alcohol information, facilitation and presentation skills.

Our course is hands-on, interactive, practical, informative, and hopefully fun. We expect each participant to leave with a good knowledge of the harmful affects of drug and alcohol abuse, as well as group facilitation skills.

Target group
Anyone living or working in the community that would be planning on delivering this information

Entry requirement
People take this course for different reasons. Maybe you would simply like the knowledge for your own children, perhaps you are looking into working in the field of addiction, or perhaps you are currently working with clients for whom drugs and alcohol may be an issue and would like to up skill.

Selection procedure

2. Obligations
3. Essential and important policies
4. Identifying the gaps
5. Session 2 assessment

Session 3: Consultation
1. Role and responsibility of the stakeholder
2. Consultation part one
3. Consultation part two
4. Session 3 assessment

Session 4: Policy Writing
1. Components of a policy
2. Researching a policy
3. Adapting a policy
4. Writing a policy
5. Session 4 assessment

Session 5: Implementation and Policy Review
1. Pre-implementation
2. Policy implementation strategy
3. Indicators, barriers and monitoring
4. Reviewing a policy

Target group
Those who wish to become quality champions in their drug or alcohol organisation.

Entry requirement
Content is delivered through Moodle - a Virtual Learning Environment (VLE) software system and is delivered as a series of multimedia based learning modules over five sessions. You will need a computer or laptop with internet access, and basic computer skills. The training is the equivalent of approximately a half day training. However, as the training is modular based, users can complete the training on a module by module basis.

Course aims and objectives
The objective of this online programme is to provide graduates from all disciplines with the opportunity to develop their understanding of the role and function of social policy.

Course content
This programme will give students an understanding of the role of social policy in engaging with some of the ‘wicked problems’ that contemporary societies face. These are complex interdependent problems such as responses to crime and poverty, policy issues which are often resistant to the solutions put in place by governments. Students will be exposed to the arguments for developing policy interventions in areas such as social security, health and housing, and the challenges of implementing and changing policy in these areas.

This course provides students with a stimulating online learning experience by creating a structured yet flexible learning approach. The place of study is flexible as online delivery allows students to engage in learning activities at home or in the workplace and there is no requirement to attend at the Trinity campus in Dublin. Students will have access to weekly materials using a virtual learning environment and the opportunity to engage with other students and lecturers using discussion boards.

Students will take seven core modules totalling 60 ECTS. Modules cover subjects such as contemporary debates in social policy, the family and society, criminology, disability studies and social work.

Target group
The programme will be of particular interest to graduates with an undergraduate qualification outside of the social science and social studies field wishing to pursue a Masters programme in that field. This online Postgraduate Diploma will also act as a conversion course for graduates who wish to pursue further study on a specialised programme such as the Master in Social Work; and applicants from outside the EU, in particular North America, who wish to study in Ireland’s leading university with excellent facilities and expertise in Irish, EU and international social policy.

Entry requirement
The programme is open to graduates from all disciplines who are interested in converting to the field of applied social studies. Successful applicants will hold a level 8 degree in any subject at a minimum of Upper Second Class Honours degree (2.2).

Selection procedure
For information about the course, see http://www.tcd.ie/swsp/postgraduate/applied-social-studies/index.php
