

Annual Stigma and Attitudes to Mental Health Survey: Five-year (2018 -2022) comparative review

Methodology

The Annual Attitudes to Mental Health and Stigma Survey is a bespoke online survey conducted to explore the public's awareness of, and attitudes towards, mental health in Ireland.

Each year, the questionnaire is designed based on previously used iterations of the survey to allow for year-on-year comparisons. From 2020 onwards, additional questions related to the mental health impact of COVID-19 were added.

A nationally representative sample of over 500 adults aged 18+ is surveyed each year, with quotas set on gender, age, region and social class. Over the past five years, 3,444 members of the public have been surveyed, and the average margin of error was 3.9%. Only changes greater than 3.9% can be read to indicate change.

Fieldwork for the annual survey takes place between May – July for a roughly one-week period.

2022 Annual Attitudes to Mental Health and Stigma Survey findings

Methodology of 2022 Annual Attitudes to Mental Health and Stigma Survey

A bespoke online survey was conducted to explore public awareness of, and attitudes towards mental health in Ireland. The questionnaire was based on previous iterations of the survey, with 2022 changes made in collaboration with St Patrick's Mental Health Services. A nationally representative sample of 802 adults aged 18+ was achieved using a combination of quotas (gender, age, region, social class) and weighting. Fieldwork took place 24 June to 5 July, 2022.

Findings

Stigma and mental health awareness

- 48% of people have had a friend disclose a mental health difficulty to them;
 39% an immediate family member; 26% a colleague; 24% a partner; and 19% an extended family member
- 73% would be comfortable living next door to someone who has bipolar disorder
- 65% would marry someone who was previously hospitalised with depression
- 64% would trust someone who had previously experienced postnatal depression to look after their child
