Chairperson's Foreword

This is the first Regional Substance Misuse Action Plan of the Midland Regional Drugs Task Force, as a result of resources being made available from the Department of Community Rural And Gaeltacht Affairs (DCRGA). A comprehensive consultative process was undertaken last year in order to provide all stakeholders in Laois, Longford, Offaly and Westmeath the opportunity to contribute and input into the design of the Action Plan.

The Action Plan sets out a wide range of actions agreed by the Task Force as being appropriate and realistic responses to the drugs issue in the Midland Region. The Plan is structured around five key strategic priorities: structure, governance and ways of working, education/prevention, treatment/rehabilitation, supply reduction and research.

My own personal involvement came about when I was invited to become an independent Chairperson and I was immediately taken by the enthusiasm of Mr. Bill Ebbitt who as Health Promotion Manager for the Midland Health Board acted as interim co-ordinator.

I would like to congratulate all members of the Midland Regional Drugs Task Force, especially the Interim Co-ordinator Bill Ebbitt for their dedication, continued participation and valuable input in terms of time and effort to the production of this Action Plan. Bill has recently left the Midlands to become a National Function Manager for the Health Service Executive (HSE). The full-time Co-ordinator is now Antoinette Kinsella and currently Julie Scully is acting Co-ordinator. This Action Plan document is the result of their dedicated and invaluable contributions and the time given from my committee members, Niall Cullen, Joyce Furlong, Mary Hughes, Frankie Keena and the expertise of Brian McNeice consultant Director of Genesis Ireland.

I believe that this Action Plan identifies the needs of the Midland Region and that achieving the actions listed will go a long way towards addressing the current drugs issue and supporting individuals and families who are facing the daily battle to lead lives free from drugs. The ongoing support of the National Drugs Strategy Team (NDST) especially Niall Cullen is acknowledged. It is important that society will actively support all the agencies who can take positive actions to reduce and eliminate the incidences of the misuse of drugs. I trust that all the actions will be successful.

Section 1: Background and Context

1.1 Introduction

Under the governments national drugs strategy 2001-2008 the Midland Regional Drugs Task Force (MRDTF) is one of ten Regional Drugs Task Forces (RDTFs) set up across the country in 2003 by Minister Noel Ahern T.D. to deliver a more co-ordinated response in tackling the problem of drug misuse.

The Midland RDTF was established in 2003 with the guidance and support of the National Drugs Strategy Team (NDST) under the aegis of the Department of Community Rural and Gaeltacht Affairs (DCRGA), the lead government department for the National Drugs Strategy 2001-2008.

After undertaking a comprehensive consultation process in the Region, the Midland RDTF working with its co-ordinators drew up the first Midland RDTF Action Plan. The plan was completed during 2005 and submitted to the NDST and DCRGA for its consideration and approval for government funding.

This plan is not a static document and therefore is subject to changes and alterations made to it by the Taskforce during its lifetime. In relation to this, the membership of the Taskforce, along with the staff, will endeavour to ensure that all the relevant parties are kept informed of such changes as they occur. The NDST will continue to support and monitor the progress of the implementation of the plan.

1.2 Overview of The National Drugs Strategy 2001-2008

The overall objective of the National Drugs Strategy 2001-2008 is to significantly reduce the harm caused to individuals and society by drug misuse through a concerted focus on:

- Supply reduction
- Prevention (including education and awareness)
- Treatment (including rehabilitation and risk reduction)
- Research

The document states that the Strategic Aims of the National Drugs Strategy (NDS) are to:

- Reduce availability of illicit drugs
- Promote throughout society a greater awareness, understanding and clarity of the dangers of drug misuse
- Enable people with drug misuse problems to access treatment and other supports in order to re-integrate into society
- Reduce the risk behaviour associated with drug misuse
- Reduce the harm caused by drug misuse to individuals, families and communities
- Have valid, timely and comparable data on the extent and nature of drug misuse in Ireland
- Strengthen existing partnerships in and with communities and build new partnerships to tackle problems of drug misuse

1.3 Mid-term Review of National Drugs Strategy

In 2005 a Mid-term Review of the National Drugs Strategy was published and the main outcomes were as follows:

- Current aims and objectives of the National Drugs Strategy are fundamentally sound
- Progress is being made across the 4 pillars
- Some adjustments are required to re-focus priorities and accelerate rollout and implementation of key actions in the period up to 2008
- Rehabilitation to be a 5th pillar of the Strategy
- Family Support measures to encourage RDTFs to prioritise the provision of family support services in their areas and action plans

1.4 Background to the Midland Regional Drugs Task Force

The geographic area covered by the Taskforce is Laois, Offaly, Longford and Westmeath. The role of the RDTF as set out in the National Drugs Strategy (NDS) is to research, develop, implement and monitor a co-ordinated response to illicit drug use at regional level, based on best evidence of what is effective. This will be achieved using a partnership approach involving the statutory, voluntary and community sectors, through the deployment of a single, integrated plan, which all organisations and agencies statutory, voluntary and community are committed to implementing.

The RDTF operates at five distinct levels:

1. Collaborative working within and between agencies and the community and voluntary sector in developing synergies in service provision
2. Creating and maintaining an up-to-date database on the nature of illicit drug use in the region and provide information on drug-related services and resources in the region
3. Identifying and addressing gaps in service provision, having regard to evidence available on the extent and specific locations of illicit drug use in the region
4. Developing regionally relevant policy proposals
5. Supporting the implementation of actions under the National Drugs Strategy within a regional context

The Midlands RDTF has been given the task of developing a Regional Action Plan.

1.5 Membership of Midland Regional Drugs Taskforce

Under the original terms of the NDS, each Task Force appointed a Regional Co-ordinator and a Chairperson. In the Midland Region, an independent chairperson was elected by the membership. Following the guidelines issued by the NDS, this membership is subject to review and rotation. In this region there are seats available to the following sectors:

Statutory	Statutory	Other
Local Authority; Vocational Educational Committee; Health Services Executive; Department of Education and Science; Department of Social and Family Affairs	An Garda Síochána; Probation Service; Foras Áiseanna Saothair; Revenue Commissioners - Customs and Excise Division; Public Representatives;	Voluntary Sector; Community Sector; Area Based Partnerships.

There are a total of 27 seats on the Midland RDTF and the chart below shows the breakdown of these seats.

Chart 1: Seats on MRDTF

- Public Reps (4)
- Statutory Reps (9)
- Voluntary Reps (6)
- Other Reps (2)
- Community Reps (6)
- Partnership Reps (2)

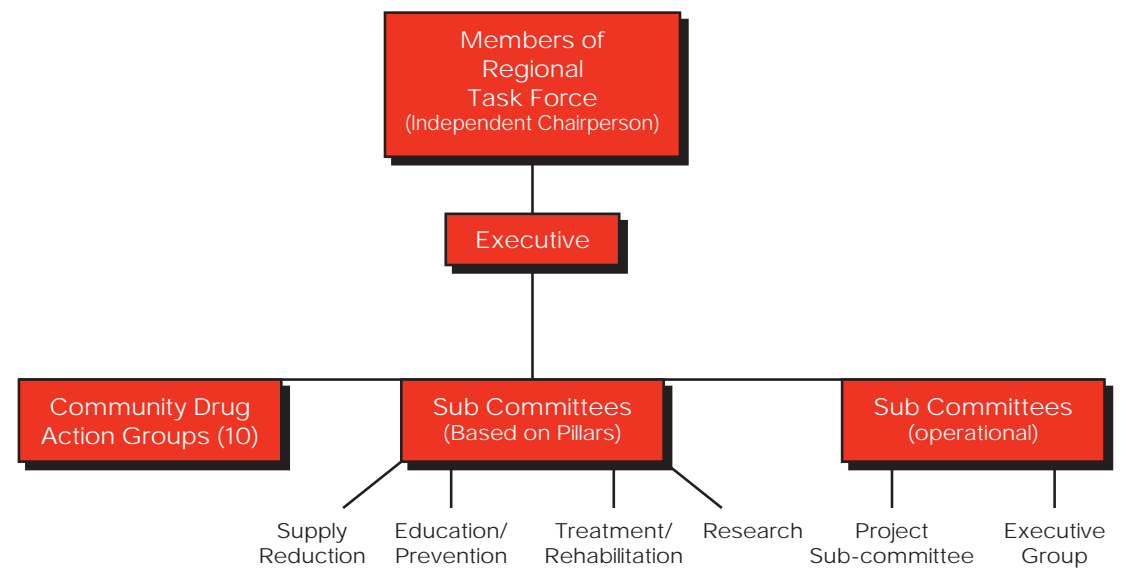

1.6 Organisational Structure of MRDTF

The Midland RDTF has an Independent Chairperson. The Chairperson is appointed for a minimum period of two years and a maximum period of three years. The RDTF will have a staff of three full-time workers; a co-ordinator, a regional development officer and an administrator. The HSE acts as the host agency for the MRDTF.

The Midland RDTF has also agreed to establish four sub-committees based on the pillars of the NDS, these sub-committees will have both RDTF Members and non-RDTF members and will draw in expertise when required. In addition to the regional sub-committees it will also have two key operational sub-committees, the projects sub-committee will deal with the assessment of new projects and monitor projects receiving on-going funding from the RDTF. The executive sub-committee will be responsible for finance and staffing.

The Midland RDTF will also facilitate the establishment of Community Drug Action Groups in the towns most badly affected by the drugs problem in the region. These groups will mainly comprise of members of the local community with seats being made available for stakeholders also. These groups will be empowered to participate in the implementation of actions to tackle substance misuse in their local community.

Section 2: A Profile of the Region

2.1 Regional Demographics

The CSO Preliminary Statistics for 2006 show that the four counties in the Midland Region have experienced a very significant increase in population since 2002. In fact the region appears to be one of the fastest growing regions in the state.

The population of the Region was 251,380 in 2006. This was broken down by County as follows:

Table 1: Population of each county and % Change 2002-2006

County	2002	2006	% Change
Longford	21,068	34,361	10.6
Westmeath	71,858	79,403	10.5
Laois	58,774	67,012	14
Offaly	63,663	70,604	10.9
Midland Region	225,363	251,380	11.5
State	3,917,203	4,234,925	8.1

Source: CSO 2006 Preliminary

A combined population of 60,000 is estimated to reside in the towns of Athlone, Mullingar, Tullamore, Longford, and Portlaoise. The 2006 census figures indicate that the Midland Region exceeded the National Spatial Strategy current trend based population projections for 2020. This would indicate a projected population of approximately 300,000 in the Midlands by 2020.

The Region is lagging behind in average disposable household income per person relative to the State average and the Border, Midland & Western (BMW) Region.

Table 2: Average Disposable Household Income .

2.2 Extent and Nature of the Drug Misuse Problem in the Region

There are a variety of data sources currently available outlining the scale and nature of the drugs misuse issue across the country, however, data for this region is difficult to isolate from national statistics and as a result data available to the RDTF for the region is limited. The Midland RDTF has identified the urgent need to establish more detailed information in relation to the extent and nature of drug use in the region.

2.2.1 Prevalence of Drug Use in the Region

In June 2005, the second bulletin on the 2002/2003 Drug Prevalence Survey was published and gives a breakdown of drug prevalence by HSE Region and Northern Ireland. This survey found that the proportion of those surveyed in the Midland Region who reported ever having taken an illegal drug (lifetime prevalence) was 11.2%, 3% of those had done so in the previous year and 1% was in the previous month.

Table 3: Ireland - Illegal Drugs - MRDTF Region (%)

	Lifetime all adults 15-64	Lifetime young adults 15-34	Lifetime older adults 35-64	Recent all adults 15-64	Recent young adults 15-34	Recent older adults 35-64	Current all adults 15-64	Current young adults 15-34	Current older adults 35-64
Midland Region	11.2%	5.8%	7.3%	2.8%	5.1%	0.8%	1.0%	1.3%	0.8%
Ireland	19.0%	26.4%	12.3%	5.6%	9.7%	1.9%	3.0%	5.2%	1.0%

Source: NACD & DAIRU, June 2005

Illegal drug use in this RDTF area primarily related to the use of cannabis for which similar rates were reported. The study also found that males and young adults reported higher prevalence rates. All prevalence rates in the Region were lower than the corresponding national rates.

The lifetime prevalence rate for alcohol among male respondents was higher than the corresponding national rate. The nature and extent of alcohol usage in the region was raised during the consultation process for this plan, however, since it is not an illicit drug (for adults) it was not appropriate for it to be covered by the actions in this plan except for those under 18.

2.2.2 Opiate Use in the Region

The latest European School Survey Project on Alcohol and Other Drugs (ESPAD) 2005, found that a National level 89% of 16 year olds attending school have used alcohol in the last 12 months, that almost one in ten had taken 'any illicit drug but cannabis', that use of inhalants is twice the EU average (22%) and the use of marijuana or hashish is twice as common in Ireland (32%) than the average for all ESPAD countries (16%).¹ The report also indicated that more than one in five Irish schools students believe that cannabis is 'easily available in schools' and 78% believe it to be easily available in general.

The first national capture-recapture study of opiate use estimated that there are 14,452 opiate users in Ireland of which approximately 2,225 are outside the Dublin area. In July 2004, there was over 7,000 people on the Central (Methadone) Treatment List however there was a 250% increase in the numbers on the treatment list outside of the Eastern Region Health Authority region.

The European monitoring centre for drugs and drug addiction (EMCDDA), defines problem drug use (PDU) as 'injecting drug use or long duration/regular use of opiates, cocaine and/or amphetamines'. Variations in definitions and methodological uncertainties mean that obtaining reliable estimates in this area is difficult, according to the EMCDDA. While there is considerable anecdotal evidence suggesting extensive cocaine use in Ireland, statistics for the Midlands do not exist.

In 2004 the MRDTF commissioned an exploratory study of heroin misuse in Athlone and Portlaoise entitled 'Darkness on the Edge of Town' attempted to estimate the extent of the heroin issue in both locations. Whilst the report was not definitive in terms of the number of heroin users it did state that there were 57 people reported to be in treatment in the Region in 2000 but that this figure was likely to be 'a serious under-representation of the heroin problem that exists'. From this study the profile of drug misusers in the Region indicates that the majority are male, in their teens or early 20's, living in the family home and poorly educated.

2.2.3 Treatment Statistics

The treatment statistics presented relate to those recorded on the National Drug Treatment Reporting System (NDTRS) cases rose from 65 to 127 between 2003 and September of this year.

2.3 Services Available to Drug Users in the Region

Currently there are very limited services available to drug users in the Region. There is no detox facility in the region and there are currently no residential rehabilitation places available. This section details the services currently available.

A number of community/voluntary organisations are also active around the specific issue of drugs.

2.3.1 Community Alcohol & Drug Service (CADS)

The H.S.E. provides addiction counselling and a methadone maintenance programme through the Community Alcohol and Drug Services. Access to the Service is by self-referral, G.P., Probation Service, or any other statutory or voluntary organisation. Psychiatric assessment and intervention is available through a Consultant Psychiatrist within the Service.

Addiction Counselling Services

The overall purpose of the addiction counselling service is to seek to minimise drug and alcohol related harm in order to have a positive impact on individuals, families and communities by:

1. Providing assessment, counselling and therapeutic interventions that are matched to clients needs, demonstrable staff competence and evidence based practice.
2. Supporting and consulting with other disciplines in related areas, including primary care workers and other community agents in the provision of services for clients including provision of advice and support, brief intervention, systematic care planned counselling and extended care planned counselling.

Methadone Maintenance Programme

The Methadone Maintenance Programme is provided by a level 2 G.P. and a clinic nurse in CADS in Athlone and Portlaoise. Each clinic can accommodate a maximum of thirty clients. Currently, clients attending the Programme from Mullingar and Birr travel to Portlaoise using transport service provided by the HSE.

2.3.2 Adult Clinical Psychology

Clinical psychologists aim to reduce psychological distress and promote psychological wellbeing. The clinical psychologist works with individuals, couples, groups and families with mental health problems including addictive behaviours, and personal and family relationships. The clinical psychology service offers assessment using a variety of methods including tests, clinical interviews and observation of behaviour. Assessment may lead to therapy, counselling or advice. Clinical Psychologists work in many settings including hospitals, community health settings, in the community, and in individuals homes.

2.3.3 Probation Service

The probation service become involved when clients are referred to them by the Courts or through their work in prisons, and when appropriate make referrals to treatment services.

2.3.4 The Garda Drug Squad

The Gardai are actively involved in giving advice and assistance in relation to substance abuse to parents and community groups. According to An Garda Síochána Annual Report 2005 there were 80 lectures given in the region in that year.

2.3.5 Juvenile Liaison Service

Juvenile Liaison Service is run by the An Garda Síochána and is aimed at young people under the age of 18 years. The purpose of the office is to prevent youth entering into the criminal justice system.

2.3.6 Substance Misuse Education and Prevention Service

The Substance Misuse Education and Prevention service is provided through the Health Promotion Service. It provides a comprehensive range of services, throughout the Midland Area, based on the needs of the community, voluntary and statutory sectors around the issues relating to substance misuse. Partnership working with the community, voluntary and statutory sectors is a key means by which services are planned, implemented and delivered.

Services include

- The provision of accurate advice and information to the public on substance misuse.
- The publication and dissemination of resources and materials designed to be used as a tool for working with parents, communities and young people.
- The provision of training on evidence based substance misuse education theory, practice and methodologies to professionals working with young people in formal/informal educational settings.
- The supporting of whole community initiatives, both existing and new, by facilitating local communities, in partnership with other agencies, to develop effective and lasting local strategies.
- The provision of educational programmes within settings such as communities, youth services, out of school settings and workplaces. These programmes are delivered to population groups including young people, parents, community groups, men's and women's groups and special interest groups.

2.3.7 Athlone Drug Awareness Group

This group offers drug awareness talks, non-alcoholic youth discos/events, dissemination of material on substance misuse. The group have always been committed to delivering healthy alternatives to alcohol and drugs. These activities have included the provision of alcohol free discos in association with our partners the Athlone Rugby Club, the Feedback music contest with our local agency partners Harmony CDP & Table quizzes and debates have also proven very popular and have incorporated the health theme on all occasions. Over the years we have funded recreational activities for many young people who would not have otherwise had the opportunities available to them.

⁴ A level 2 G.P. is a G.P. with specialist training regarding the prescribing of methadone.

Section 3: The Action Plan

3.1 Consultation Process for the Action Plan

The Midland RDTF established a Steering Group to oversee the development of the Regional Action Plan chaired by the Chairperson, and comprised of representatives of the taskforce. The Steering Group invited tenders for the development of this action plan. Genesis Strategic Management Consultants were awarded the tender and undertook the development of the Action Plan.

A comprehensive consultation process was undertaken in order to provide all stakeholders within the Region the opportunity to contribute and input into the design of the Action Plan. The consultation process included:

- Public fora meetings
- Meetings with statutory and voluntary organisations and groups
- Consultations with public representatives
- Meetings with key individuals and groups
- Written submissions
- Telephone based submissions
- Visits to projects.

Four public consultation meetings were held in Athlone, Tullamore, Longford and Portlaoise in February and March 2005. These public meetings were well advertised in the local media (radio and print), through public posters and through the various organisations represented on the RDTF. The meetings were facilitated by Genesis and the format of the meetings were identical in all four locations. The meetings resulted in a range of recommended actions to be considered for the final Action Plan. All of these ideas were considered by the Steering Group.

Over fifty meetings were conducted with various statutory and voluntary organisations and groups throughout the Region over the January to April 2005 period.

Written submissions were also encouraged by the RDTF through public advertisements and posters and through the organisations represented on the taskforce. In total, over 20 written submissions were received and considered as part of the development of the Action Plan.

A confidential telephone hotline was also set-up and manned throughout the month of March 2005 to facilitate members of the public to submit their views on the Action Plan.

Visits were made to a number of current, active projects within the Region. These visits provided an opportunity to review some of the work been undertaken on the ground and to engage individuals currently participating in these projects and solicit their views on the Action Plan. In particular, the views of young people and minority communities were sought.

Finally, a number of organisations conducted their own consultation sessions and submitted the output and conclusions from these sessions to the RDTF for consideration.

The consultation process assisted in the identification of key issues and developing practical suggested actions/solutions to address these issues. And, the process set out to ensure that stakeholders attempted to develop ideas and suggestions to address the identified issues. As a result, the process resulted in a thorough analysis and understanding of what the key issues were, but more importantly, practical actions/solutions being identified for consideration by the RDTF in the development of the Action Plan.

The RDTF is very confident that the extensive nature of the consultation process carried out ensures that the final Action Plan is reflective of the views of those living and working in the Region.

The Actions are presented under the following headings:

Feedback from Consultation Process

Key Issues

The consultation process assisted in the process of both identifying key issues and developing practical suggested actions/solutions to address these issues. Specifically, the consultation sessions were designed to not just identify a list of problems within the Region. Rather, the process ensured that stakeholders attempted to develop ideas and suggestions as to what could be done to address the issues. As a result, the process resulted in a thorough analysis and understanding of what the key issues were, but more importantly, practical actions/solutions identified for consideration by the RDTF in the development of the Action Plan.

The following is a brief summary of the feedback of the consultation process.

Governance

It is vital that the RDTF has a suitable and credible 'Management Committee' which is chaired by an able individual who has the qualities of 'being able to get things done.'

The RDTF should act as a decision making and policy setting body and therefore requires the membership to be comprised of credible figures from statutory, voluntary and community sectors, capable and empowered to make decisions on behalf of their relevant organisations.

The work of delivering the Regional Drugs policy should be contracted, in part or in whole to credible and acceptable localised agencies. A training programme should be developed for the members of the RDTF who cannot take post until it is completed.

The statutory sector should be represented by senior personnel who can make commitments from their service.

The Coordinator should report to the full RDTF and provide written reports on progress on at least four occasions each year.

Any Regional policy should coordinate with national policy.

The feedback from the consultation has been separated out under the four strategic headings being used at national level and known as the national pillars.

National Pillars

1. Education/Prevention
2. Treatment/Rehabilitation
3. Supply/Reduction
4. Research

1. Education/Prevention:

Advertising information about drugs and effects should be targeted at young people and given a localised 'flavour'.

Targeted work with vulnerable young people should be initiated.

Children in care should receive special attention.

Peer-led projects should be encouraged.

Community drug action schemes should be extended.

Social work reports on young people should reflect their drug use even if it is experimental.

There is a need for a properly researched and up-to-date drug prevention education programme in schools.

School drug education should be 'inspected' for acceptability, conformity and deliverability.

A common curriculum should be developed to ensure uniformity across the Region.

Clear guidance should be given on the use of Gardai, medical and other personnel in schools.

Parents should be given complimentary advice and guidance appropriate to the age and stage of development of their children.

Advice should be made available to higher education students with special emphasis on the effects a criminal conviction for a drugs offence can have on future employment and careers.

A programme of parental advice and support should be available to parents in the Region.

Youth programmes and activities should be encouraged.

2. Treatment/Rehabilitation:

A client-centric approach should be adopted with all agencies/organisations working closely together in an integrated and co-ordinated way to act in the best interest of the client.

Waiting lists should be minimised.

Advertising information about drugs' services should be initiated across the Region.

Arrangements should be put in place for 'crisis-intervention'.

All services should be provided in an accessible manner, in particular hard to reach communities should be carefully considered in the design and delivery of services.

Support should be available for the families of drug users.

A drug problem service should be created as a reception point for assessment and routing of service users.

GPs should be 'encouraged' to be more proactive in services for drug users.

RDTF should consider establishing an 'expert committee' to advise on best practice.

A system of monitoring developments should be developed.

An audit should be carried out of all services to eliminate overlap and enable coordination.

A comprehensive range of services should be provided within the Region including detoxification, treatment, rehabilitation, outreach, after care, harm reduction etc.

Information on polydrug use, needle sharing, blood borne viruses and clean drug injecting equipment should be made available to drug users by appropriate/effective methods.

Ante-natal services should be developed to monitor the health of pregnant women up to the birth of the child.

Services should be sensitive to the needs of women particularly where there are children.

The implications of services being user-friendly to minority ethnic groups should be carefully considered.

A users' group should be created to enable 'street information' to be taken into account as services evolve.

Services for Under 18's should be provided urgently.

Areas where there is significant under provision of service should be addressed as a matter of urgency.

The providers of undergraduate training programmes for doctors and other medical personnel should be approached to include drug use as a part of their training programmes.

Exchange schemes for needles and syringes should be administered by local pharmacists with agreed levels of paraphernalia being distributed. Special arrangements will need to be considered in very rural areas.

Methadone or similar treatment should be available from all local pharmacists with special arrangements in rural areas.

Alcohol misuse should be tackled and addressed as an urgent priority.

Any RDTF plan should be closely linked to initiatives to address alcohol misuse in the Region.

3. Supply/Reduction

General acceptance that a range of drugs are freely available within the communities in the Region.

The Gardaí should be proactive in work with young people outside of their duties to foster a positive relationship with young people.

Gardaí should be adequately resourced to tackle the drugs issue including the provision of dedicated drugs officers.

Robust and uniform sentencing policies should be agreed by Judges across the Region.

Consideration should be given to establishing special 'drug courts' which only deal with drug-related offenses.

Community policing is central to tackling the drug problem Gardaí should monitor the use of drugs detected in licensed premises and withhold or revoke licenses where clear failure to comply with a drug-free environment.

Similarly premises licensed for other entertainment should require to be drug-free with failure to comply resulting revocation of the license.

The Prison Service should have abstinence and education programmes for prisoners both in custody and in preparation for release.

All prison officers should have training on dealing with drug use in prison.

Information for prisoners' families should be developed and made available on how to support a drug-using prisoner on release.

4. Research

There is a need to have local information which is accurate and up-to-date.

This information should be collected in a uniform and rigorous basis and should be commissioned over a long period of time. This will establish trends and will act as a monitor of effectiveness.

The handling of the information is important and it should be intended for the use of the statutory and voluntary sectors in whole or in part to inform service delivery.

Where there is research into the scale of the problem, the reporting of the information should be handled with great care as the wrong interpretation can set back developments.
